Training Partners expands its cloud learning portfolio with new credential as a Citrix Authorised Learning Centre

Singapore, 21 February 2012 – Citrix Systems Inc, a company providing application, desktop, client and server virtualisation solutions has appointed Training Partners as a Citrix Authorised Learning Centre (CALC). As a CACL, Training Partners will be able to offer Citrix certified training programs including Virtual Desktop Interface, as well as to complement and integrate Citrix’s existing cloud training programmes with Cisco and VMware.

“The addition of the Citrix learning programmes in our portfolio brings us closer in achieving our vision of offering the most comprehensive cloud learning solutions, as part of our cloud enablement strategy,” said Esther Wong, General Manager, Training Partners.

“The IT industry is abuzz with technologies, solutions and service offerings related to cloud computing, and there is an acute shortage of skilled individuals who can support such cloud operation and implementation. Training Partners is well-placed to address this concern with our most complete range of learning solutions from the leading technology vendors that support the cloud strategy including Cisco, VMware and now Citrix,” Wong added.

specialisation. The advanced, engineer-level Citrix Certified Enterprise Engineer and architect-level Citrix Certified Integration Architect will help develop skills required to deliver end-to-end virtual computing from data center to the desktop.
